DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-24 and 27, drawn to a radiator fluid exchanging apparatus, classified in class 141, subclass 098.
 - II. Claim 25, drawn to a method of exchanging fluid using vacuum pressure, classified in class 141, subclass 065.
 - III. Claim 26, drawn to a method of testing the pressure, classified in class 141, subclass 095.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are related as process/method and apparatus for its practice.

The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different method such as a method that does not require the step of coupling the seal with the fill neck of the reservoir.

3. Inventions III and I are related as process/method and apparatus for its practice.

The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP §

Art Unit: 3751

806.05(e)). In this case, the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different method such as a method that does not require the step of securing the radiator cap to the fill neck.

4. Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not capable of being used together and they have different modes of operating such as the operation as claimed in Invention II requires the removal of the radiator cap from the fill neck while the operation of Invention III requires that the cap be secured to the fill neck as claimed.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II or III and vice versa, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: Species I (as depicted in Fig. 10); Species II (as depicted in Fig. 12); Species III (as depicted in Fig. 13).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1, 22, 24 and 27 are held to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

8. A telephone call was made to Mr. Gary M. Anderson on 08/12/2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement is traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
